Message from the Chair

Welcome to the July Newsletter

We welcome Wayne back to work as we gear up for another Board meeting in August and conference in September.

The Peak Bodies Alliance recently met with Education NZ to focus on whole-of-Government settings to support international education. The meeting went well and the Peak Bodies Alliance provided feedback to ENZ and we are waiting on further dialogue to move our ideas forward. Once we have more information it will be shared with members.

Many members have also expressed their disappointment at the delays in responses from the TEC Customer Service Centre and sometimes lack of detailed information provided when you ask for support. We have raised this matter with TEC and will continue to monitor progress on this for you.

With the AGM coming up at the Conference please consider putting your name forward or nominate a member for the board, we welcome new nominations. The conference is still open for registrations so please register now if you still haven't done so. The conference is for you as members and we have a full two days of presentations, workshops and a political panel, which considering it is election year, it is an important event to be at.

Regards

Craig

Your chance to hear from the political parties before the election.

This year's ITENZ Conference falls about a month before the General Election. It will be opened by the Minister of Education, Jan Tinetti, who will address the conference and then take questions.

On Day Two, there will be a political panel comprising Penny Simmonds, National Party Education Spokesperson, Chris Baillie, ACT, Chloe Swarbrick, Greens, and Shanan Halbert, Labour (because Ms Tinetti can't attend both days). We have also invited Te Paati Māori.

Don't miss this opportunity to hear what each party has to say on their policies that will affect the sector and your organisation.

Research into the PTE sector

As mentioned in previous newsletters, ITENZ, with support from ENZ, has commissioned Nielsen to undertake some research into the PTE sector. The purpose is to provide a comprehensive description of what it is, what it does, and how it is valued, as such a description is currently not available. The project is drawing to an end and the findings will be presented at the ITENZ Conference in September

Cyber security

TEC, NZQA and MoE are working on a project to raise awareness of the criticality of cyber security across the tertiary sector, Patrick Dowling (Techtorium) is representing ITENZ on the PTE advisory group for this project.

TEC have started providing some guidance on how you can better protect yourself from cyber attacks - see here.

Resources for international students and wellbeing

ISANA has published a Capability Toolkit for developing support of international learners. Many of the resources, which cover subjects such as wellbeing, critical incidents, innovative leadership, and cultural competency, are freely available on their website.
